

ENERGY

The world is transforming right before our eyes. Once-emerging countries have now become global economic powerhouses. But with this remarkable shift, one thing has become clear – the world needs more energy. As companies across the globe search for new sources of power, risk increases. That’s where Starr comes in. In an increasingly volatile sector, having industry experts who can provide real-time answers is just another way Starr helps to navigate uncharted waters and mitigate risk.
